TOMORROW IS GOP NATIONAL PRECINCT DAY

Based on the premise that "knocking on your neighbor's door" will win the 1954 elections, a new chapter in American political history will be written Friday, with observance of Republican National Precinct Day.

A year's planning will be climaxed when President Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon address party caucuses across the nation on the biggest TV-radio hookup ever used politically. The half-hour simulcast will be carried over an augmented CBS-TV network of 158 stations and the NBC and Mutual radio networks of 534 stations.

Broadcast time is 9:30 p.m. EST, with a delayed broadcast to Pacific Coast states beginning at 9:30 p.m. PST.

Precinct day begins at dawn Friday when GOP Congressional and local candidates begin meeting new and old party workers at small "powwows" in neighborhood homes.

Emphasizing the importance of recruiting new workers at the powwows, Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall said: "This National Precinct Day sets the stage for two vital goals: recruiting workers who will help us get out again the 34,000,000 voters who selected President Eisenhower and a Republican Congress in 1952; and signing up in Republican ranks the 5,000,000 voters who failed to cast their ballots for Congressional candidates of either party in 1952."

The President is expected to speak out directly to urge election of Republican candidates, following up his Hollywood Bowl address of Sept. 23 when he called for renewal of the 1952 zeal and vigor of GOP campaign organizations.

Republican National Precinct Day was originated last winter by the National Federation of Republican Women.

AT AFTERNOON CEREMONIES

Supt. Puffer Officiates at Dedication
Service in School Auditorium Oct. 10

When a person or group has recognized a problem, dreamed and then started to plan a solution and the day comes when the time was at hand to put the plan into action, there is usually a good feeling of satisfaction.

But when the day finally arrives, after perhaps many years of planning and action, and the plan stands forth in reality, there is more than satisfaction. So it is with the Carl Sandburg High school at Orland Park.

Orland Park's high school pupils first were accorded opportunity in that level of learning in Orland, nearly 20 years ago

The celebration on Sunday included a baked ham dinner with strawberry short cake being served for dessert.

On Sunday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kohl of Mokena stopped at Emerald for the occasion, while on their way home from Minnesota. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. Eino Sarellas of Stillwater, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Carl Seydel and family, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hentsch and family of Emerald, Wis.

After the festivities Mr. and Mrs. John G. Bettenhausen, Otto Bormet and Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Kohl went to Yellow Lake, near Webster, Wis., where they enjoyed a three day fishing trip.

Sandburg's Thoughts At Dedication Time

Old and tarnished sayings have it, "Time is a great teacher" and "Time will tell." This building as a tool and an instrument, as a breathing structure newly come to life, might speak for itself today and say, "I am a child of time. I celebrate the dignity, importance and pathos of time. Loving hands and thoughtful hearts have seen my foundations and walls rise to serve as best they may a young generation living in a time of world storm. Here to my rooms will come fresh generations, one after another, gazing out on the world in history, gazing in on themselves in reverie, some asking the ancient question, 'While we live what is worth looking at, what is worth listening to, and what might be worth dying for?' Here they may study the guarded meaning of Lincoln opening his House Divided speech, 'If we could first know where we are and whether we are tending, we could better judge what to do and how to do it.'"

Always the path of American destiny has been into the Unknown. With each new test and crisis it always cost and there were those ready to pay the cost. As an affirming character in Remembrance Rock says: "Man is a changer. God made him a changer. You may become the witnesses of the finest and brightest era known to mankind. The nations over the globe shall have music, music instead of murder. It is possible. That is my hope and prayer - for you and for the nations."

This plan took the place of the several faculty committees appointed in September of former years to act independently on specific problems.

This committee discusses general plans and procedures required to carry on the program of the school, particularly special events, and assists the administration with these duties or selects sub-committees of other teachers to help with and or direct specific activities. ## County School Board Members To Meet In Chicago Oct. 21

To meet one of suburban Cook County's most urgent school problems, that of constructing new buildings for increasing enrollments, Noble J. Puffer, Cook County Superintendent of Schools, called a county-wide meeting of more than one thousand suburban school board members, school officials and architects.

The meeting will be a clinic on the theme of "Reducing Costs of School Construction Without Jeopardizing the Curriculum." The clinic will be held at 7:45 p.m., Oct. 21st, in the LaSalle Hotel.

One of the most critical problems facing suburban school boards is to get the most for the community's dollar invested in school building construction.

New ideas in school construction offer one method of meeting the need for more construction in the face of reduced financial capacity.

"Elementary school building costs now range from $10 per square foot to as high as $14.70 per square foot. It is my judgment, in the light of recent bids taken on fireproof, well planned school buildings, that in a suburban area, new school buildings needed can be built for from $10 to $11 per square foot and be excellent, fireproof, educationally well planned school buildings," Puffer said.

The clinic will be a forum to provide school board members, superintendents and principals with a first hand account of the application of these new ideas to their school district building program.

Stratton and Holt To Address I.E.A. At Northwestern

Sharing platform honors with Governor William G. Stratton at the annual meeting of the Lake Shore Division, Illinois Education Association, will be Andrew D. Holt, vice president of the University of Tennessee.

The Illinois governor and Holt will address an expected crowd of more than 10,000 at Northwestern University's McGraw Memorial hall, Friday, Oct. 15.

The Tennessee educator, who will discuss current educational problems, has had teaching experience at the elementary, secondary, and college levels.

In addition to being a former president of the National Education Association, Holt has been chairman of the United States delegation to the World Organization of the Teaching Profession in Berne, Switzerland, 1949; a delegate to the Midcentury White House Conference on Children and Youth, 1950; and a member of the Educational Advisory Council, National Association of Manufacturers.

Current Population Survey To Be Made Next Week

Questions on school enrollment will be asked in addition to the regular inquiries on employment and unemployment in the October Current Population Survey, according to Supervisor John W. and focusing the attention of Camit of the U.S. Census Bureau's district office at Chicago, Ill.

Similar questions last October revealed that about 34.5 million persons in the United States between the ages of five and 34 years of age were enrolled in school, including kindergarten, in 1953 compared with about 32.5 million in 1952.

The expansion of the school population is taking place at all grades and age levels. There were approximately 2.0 million more pupils in the fall of 1953 than in the fall of 1952. Of this increase, 1.7 million took place among those in regular school and 300,000 among those in kindergarten. Since 1947, kindergarten enrollment has doubled, elementary school enrollment has grown by one-fifth, and high school enrollment by one-sixth.

The Current Population Survey will be taken locally and in 229 other areas of the country during the week of Oct. 11.

A Salute to Carl Sandburg High School

Carl Sandburg high school is more than a building; it is a dream come true; a battle won; it is the result of the give and take kind of living done by the people of the area in which it stands.

We are proud of our first high school, its board of education, its principal and faculty; may they always be a source of inspiration and guidance to our children, and teach them to be American citizens of the highest and noblest kind.

Congratulations to the people of this community for their foresight and determination to have a high school for the children of this area.

WASHINGTON AND

"SMALL BUSINESS"

By C. WILSON HARDER

The tumult and the shouting dies, the Senators and Congressmen have departed, and the stifling, hazy heat of late summer settles along the Potomac.

In this reflective quiet, many things are being weighed. The once widely hailed Great Crusade appears to have developed into old-fashioned brawling. Opinions are shifting. Before Congress again convenes, talks with home folks may change opinions even more.

C. W. Harder

For example, "isolationism" is no longer a fighting epithet. It is not now necessary to smile when calling a man that.

Belief seems emerging black-mailing payments are no surety of peace, or friendship or a stopper of Communism. American people fail to see where giving dollars to nations not to go Communist is any more sensible than to give cash to average citizen to keep him from crime.

American taxpayers still pay huge sums for foreign aid, but January may bring changes.

Although much was made that session just ended voted less than $3 billion dollars in aid, fact remains that in the year just ended $5.7 billion was spent on aid, while in this fiscal year expenditures of $6 billion are planned.

But the disparity between appropriation and expenditures is due to fact money appropriated in past has yet to be spent. Altogether foreign aid bureaus have some $15 billion to spend.

There is deep thought on using this money to lighten burden on U. S. taxpayer. For example, U. S. poured around $3 billion in Indo-China war, but when chips were down, communists were handed victory.

Now Foreign Aid Administration is pouring millions into French North Africa supplying gasoline, copper, wood pulp, other items. At same time substantial share of aid being given Spain is bought by U. S. foreign aid in French North Africa.

In fact, biggest change in foreign aid seems to be diverting opportunity for American business and labor to benefit from these huge expenditures through buying give-away materials from foreign nations. For example, British Rhodesia is getting money for new locomotives from U. S. foreign aid, but U. S. builders must compete on bids with foreign producers for business.

Shipyards in Communist Yugoslavia are building ships for U. S. Navy. Yet when and if chips are down, there appears to be more uncertainty as to Yugoslavia's eventual course than there was over recent French decisions.

In meantime nation faces fact past billions given Europe developed their industrial machine to point where Europe slips into U. S. through non-existent or weak tariff protection, enough goods to idle at least 300,000 American workers. New tax measures, principally those expanding old New Deal principle of welfare state, have placed new burden on just started, or slowly expanding small business. Yes, it is very hot along the Potomac now, but many legislators are undoubtedly finding heat even more unbearable at home where there appears more concern over Main Street affairs than global affairs.

The following adult leaders have been assigned to Mokena troops: Third grade Brownies, troop 103 meets in the school Tuesdays at 3:30, with leaders Mrs. Ervin Friant, Willie Mueller, Louis Badten and Douglas Lavizzi.

Troop 186, fourth grade Brownies will meet on Tuesdays in the home of their leader, Mrs. Walt Yunker with Mrs. Norval Robinson assisting.

Troop 107, fifth grade Scouts, meets in the school Wednesdays, Mrs. Arthur Shoop, Mrs. Albert Zemeske, and Mrs. Fred Lehman will help the girls.

Intermediate troop 40 will have Mrs. Donald Ambuehl, and Mrs. Harold Behen as leader and will meet Mondays in the school.

Intermediate troop 42 will meet Mondays in the school with Mrs. Clarence Berg, Mrs. Leo Marcoux and Mrs. Jack Owens assisting.

A new Brownie troop will be organized and will meet in the Methodist church Tuesdays at 3 p. m. Leaders and troop committee members will be announced soon. Mrs. Fred Lehman is Neighborhood chairman; vice president, Mrs. Albert Cappel; and secretary-treasurer, Mrs. Dennis Roman.

Members of the nominating committee for the coming year are: Mrs. Jane Bills, Mrs. Leo Marcoux and Mrs. Margaret Cappel. —M. Friant, publicity.

When this fiscal year started, the Armed Forces had $102,800,000,000 available for spending, $46,600,000,000 in new appropriations and an unexpended backlog of $56,200,000,000 in old appropriations, says the New York World-Telegram and Sun.

Higher taxes on liquor, expected to increase Federal revenue by $200,000,000 helped cause a slump of $117,000,000 in tax collections during the first half of this year, says the "Daily News," Chicago.

"Dreier is a liar and a capitalistic war-monger!" As he heard these words, broadcast over the Nazi radio station of Berlin six weeks after he was thrown out of Germany, husky NBC newsman Alex Dreier shouted "That's wonderful—I've made the grade!" One of two radio correspondents to cover World War II from both axis and allied capitals, Dreier pulled no punches in his NBC radio reports from Berlin during the months preceding Pearl Harbor. Kicked off the air after the threat of two Gestapo agents sitting behind him as he broadcast failed to intimidate him—Dreier left Berlin on December 6, 1941. After a short rest in the States, he returned to London to continue to report the war. Early in 1943 he was assigned to the NBC Chicago news staff. Dreier hauls his 220-pound, six-foot frame all over the U. S., talks with fighting men and farmers, clerks and captains of industry, to keep tab on the American pulse. A sports car enthusiast, he drives a custom-built 300 horsepower job with a chrome-plated motor. He is heard on the NBC

Ah, The Want Ads!

One of the most important parts of a newspaper is the Want Ads! Some readers may skip the sports, the society, the comic pages. It is even rumored that every reader does not read the editorials religiously. But the classified columns are a day in and day out "must" for most newspaper readers.

Primarily, of course, they serve as a central market place where persons with things to sell and persons with things to buy can complete their transactions. These range from lavish country estates to second-hand bicycles or outgrown highchairs.

But classified ads serve many other purposes equally well. It is to them that the homeseeker turns to find the house he wants to rent or buy. It is to them that the job-seeker turns to look for the job he needs. It is through them that one can get any kind of message to another person or to the entire population of the community.

The continuous mining machine wraps up in one cycle mechanized coal mining's traditional four steps of cutting, drilling, blasting, and loading.

are now on sale only at our factory
Our guaranteed first grade titanium-lead-zinc exterior house paint retails at only $4.00 a gallon.

Our interior tinting base paint is priced at $3.00 a gallon but is not to be used alone. It is intended to be used as a base for colors. The price of our interior paint, in colors, is the price of the base plus the cost of whatever colors you choose. The average cost is 50 cents.

Please note that a white paint intended for use as a white paint will not give good color retention. That is why you see so many interior and exterior paint jobs fading prematurely, and why we make a special tinting base paint that will take colors well and reduce fading to the minimum.

The success of research in developing new and improved nickel alloys has resulted in the extensive use of nickel in the production of materials for superior equipment requiring qualities of strength, toughness and resistance to corrosion, wear and heat, as well as other special and useful properties.

If they are in doubt at any time as to correct methods for handling greases and lubricants, farmers should consult farm equipment or truck distributors, tank wagon drivers, petroleum products jobbers, service stations, or other suppliers. These people will be glad to be as helpful as possible. They are conservation conscious, too.

State Office Reaches Hundredth Year

SPRINGFIELD—Education in Illinois reached a milestone this year as the office of Superintendent of Public Instruction Vernon L. Nickell observed its centennial.

Before the Illinois General Assembly created the office in 1854 the Secretary of State supervised all public schools in the state.

The law creating a separate office of Superintendent of Public Instruction specified that the term be for two years and that the office be appointive. With the adoption of the constitution of 1870 the term was extended to four years and became elective.

First superintendent was Ninian W. Edwards, a personal friend of Abraham Lincoln. The present incumbent, Nickell, is the fourteenth Superintendent of Public Instruction to hold office in Illinois.

Bremen Braves Take Wilmington 19-6; Scrubs Lose

The Bremen Braves tasted their first football victory in two seasons when they defeated the fast moving Wilmington high school eleven at Wilmington 19-6, Friday, Sept. 24.

Having a 72-0 win over Lincolnway to their credit, the Wilmington lads momentarily jarred the Braves' spirits by scoring a touchdown in the first minute of play. Bremen knotted the score 6-6 later in the first period as an alert Brave recovered a Wilmington fumble on the 4 yard line. Lindsay drove over for the game tying tally.

Neither team threatened in the second and third quarter. In the final period the game opened up. A wide-awake, hard charging Bremen defense caused the Wilmington lads to make a costly fumble on their own 22 yard line. A series of plays brought the ball to the 8 from where Hopman, Brave halfback, plunged through tackle for the touchdown. Hopman also accounted for the extra point, and the Braves were out in front 13-6.

Wilmington shortly afterwards took to the air in an effort to turn the tide. This proved futile as Ron Gallina, fleet Bremen halfback, intercepted a pass on the Wilmington 14 and scampered along the sidelines for the third and final score.

Bremen coaches, Larry Callan and Emil Lussow, take their squad to Batavia Oct. 1 for the next game.

Evergreen Park defeated Coach Dick Zuege's fresh-soph squad 6-0 on the Bremen high school football field Saturday morning, Sept. 25.

Starting line-up for the Bremen Braves: LB-C Blanke, LT-R Berens, LE-L Christensen, RG-B Calza, RT-B Shramm, RE-J Vanderwall, C-G Nelson, QB-W Lindsay, HB-F Warsjelek, HB-D Banicki, FB-R Wesolowski.

Score by quarters:
Wilmington 6 0 0 0
Bremen 6 0 0 13

Lose First Game Played At Home

Carl Sandburg's Eagles opened their conference season against Reavis Friday afternoon and suffered their third defeat. This game was also the first played on the home field. Tom Lonson, varsity team captain, scored the only touchdown for the local school.

In the first quarter of play neither team scored, but as the game proceeded into the second Reavis started scoring quickly.

LAW ON THE FARM

By H. W. Hannah
The hunting season is about to begin, and many farm owners will again be wondering just what their rights are with respect to people who hunt on their property. Here are a few pointers:

1. No one has a right to hunt on the property of another unless he secures permission. If he hunts without permission, he is not only liable to the owner for trespassing, but is also guilty of a misdemeanor for which he may be fined. Whether or not he is prosecuted for a misdemeanor, the owner may recover actual damage caused by the trespasser - an animal killed, fences broken down or livestock frightened, for example.
2. Permission to hunt is viewed legally as a "mere license" that may be revoked at the will of the owner. In the legal sense it creates no "right" in the hunter.
3. Hunters are liable for any damage caused by their negligence or carelessness, even though they have been given permission to hunt.
4. A farm owner is not liable for injuries that may occur to a hunter on his premises, unless he fails to warn the hunter about a particularly dangerous animal or object or unless he himself negligently injures the hunter. Though no legal significance may attach, an owner should probably warn hunters that other hunters are on the premises when this is the case.
5. Farm tenants has possessory rights in the farm and are the persons from whom permission must be secured. Permission to hunt given by a landlord is of no effect and is not binding on the tenant. As a matter of law, landlords themselves cannot hunt on their rented farms unless they reserve the right in the lease or secure the tenants' consent.

Tinley School News

At the end of the second week of school the enrollment was 620. All the rooms in both buildings are now in use. Twenty-four teachers are now employed by the school district. All parents should be interested in this service, Accident Insurance, premium one dollar. This will insure a child in case of accident while in school, going to and from school, and at any school-sponsored activity. Premiums are accepted at any time and the pupil is insured from the time the premium is paid at the school office.

Oct. 15 is a date to remember, the annual P.T.A. Family Fun Night at the Tinley Park building. This will be an evening of fun for all to come and enjoy. Our goal for the coming year is to prevent illness and accidents to the best of our ability. In order to accomplish this, we need the cooperation of parents, children, teachers, and administrators. By following the health rules that are taught in the home and in school we will be healthier and happier individuals. Among the tests to be carried out are vision and hearing examinations, weighing and measuring. The physical and mental well-being of each individual can be best achieved when we all work together toward a common goal.

Intra-mural games will begin Oct. 1. They will be held daily from 12:00 to 12:40. Soft ball will be played out-of-doors, weather permitting, and basketball in the gym. The boys are organized into teams and ready to go.

Pupils in room 104 are reading about Friends and Neighbors in our room. They talk about the many ways they can be a good friend and a pleasant neighbor. In science they are learning about signs of fall. Many children have brought caterpillars to school. They watch them spinning their cocoons and get ready to sleep all winter.

The pupils of room 105 are now studying about the cave men of long ago. They are making a book composed of what they have learned. Room 107 planned a picnic this week. When the weather was too cold to go out doors, the boys and girls had a picnic in the room, and played games. Janet Suhs of room 101 brought

Many thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Suhs for lending us the phone. Boys and girls of room 102 have been learning party manners in the classroom. They made table settings and gifts for the game. The children have also been expressing themselves through the telephone game. Because of this, their behavior at birthday parties and telephone conversations will be very much improved.

BABSON SAYS—Copyright, 1954, Publishers
Financial Bureau, Inc.

I believe in insurance - fire, life, and casualty - yes, and I include hurricane, accident, and sickness insurance. I especially like the Blue Cross and Blue Shield. Everyone should subscribe to these.

Apart from being a business, insurance is also a form of good sound Christianity in which every church member should enthusiastically join. Insurance is really all of us contributing to help ourselves and others who are in trouble. Instead of waiting for fire, death, or accident, and then "passing the hat," insurance companies collect the money first.

To interest people in taking out insurance consumes time and costs the insurance companies much money; also, bookkeeping and other expenses are high. But in a free nation I see no way of avoiding this expense. Even compulsory insurance costs something to "service," and it is very easy for politics and even corruption to creep in. Therefore, I believe the present plan is best.

A week or two ago, Greater Boston and Eastern New England were swept by a hurricane. Within about one hour, $100,000,000 of property values was wiped out. A portion of this - such as beautiful trees - can be insured only at very high premium rates, but damage to buildings, life, etc., can be protected at reasonable insurance costs. (Incidentally, uninsured loss of trees can be deducted from your income tax.)

Since this hurricane I learn that very few people carry hurricane insurance. In fact, most people do not know what their insurance covers. For instance, manufacturers insure their F.O.B. goods until delivered to the merchant's nearest railroad station. The merchant insures these goods after they arrive at his store; but very few carry policies which protect the goods while being trucked between station and store. Be sure you have the right insurance, and enough of it.

Whether you are a manufacturer, or a storekeeper, or a humble citizen, you should read your policies. Get them all out tonight and read them. Anything not plainly covered will not be covered. Especially read what is in fine print. This advice strongly applies to accident and health insurance sold at low rates. An executor may try to collect on a $10,000 accident policy and find that the accident must be in a train wreck - in order to collect. In fact, one company which sells accident insurance at very low rates insists you must be seated in a train when killed in order for your executors to collect.

Sickness insurance should be checked. A long list of diseases of which you have never heard are mentioned; but you may find no mention of heart disease, cancer, or some very common causes of death. I forecast that the time is coming when these accident and sickness policies will be compelled by law to state in large type what they do not cover. In the meantime I beg that all my friends read their policies. If these policies do not cover every reasonable hazard which you can think of, get covered. For instance, if your wife should put a person's eye out with an open umbrella, are you insured against its costing you $20,000?

Your insurance agent wants to be one of your best friends. He is truly interested in your welfare. Tell him you want everything covered and get a letter from him stating that everything, unless he mentions it in this letter to you, is covered. One other thought. In most states only perfectly sound insurance companies are allowed by law to operate; but this is not true in all states. Furthermore, some unscrupulous companies get around the law by operating by mail from a careless state.

You cannot be expected to study the financial strength of each company; but you can insist upon selecting only well-known companies which have been in business a long time. Any company which has advertised consistently in your local paper should be safe. This is a good test, especially if the advertisement reads that the company has been approved by the Insurance Commissions of all the leading states.

Canada Maintains Position As Premier Nickel Producer

The important position of Canada in nickel production—it furnishes over 90 per cent of the free world's output—has been maintained by the constant effort to uncover and develop its nickel ore bodies, to create better methods of getting that ore out of the earth and to provide economies in its smelting and refining.

NICKEL PRODUCERS

Nickel has been produced in many countries in the past. In recent years it has been mined in quantity in Canada, Celebes, Cuba, New Caledonia, Norway and Russia, and in smaller amounts in several other countries.

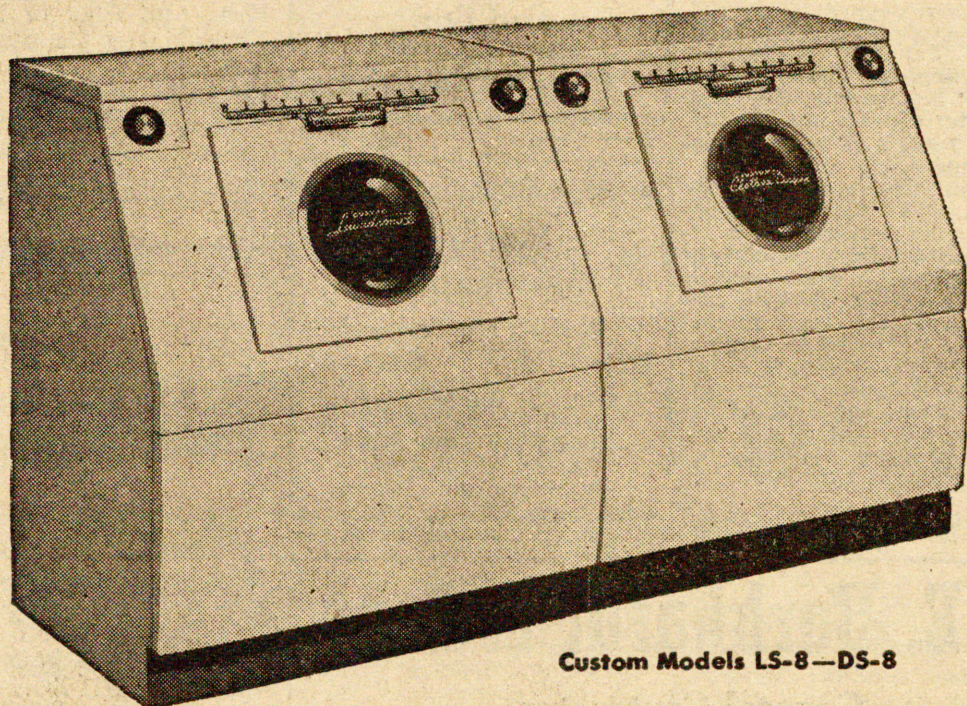

American mines are furnishing coal for more than half of the world's steel production.

DID YOU KNOW?

The hopes and fears and aspirations of us and our friends—these, but the simplest law of nature—concern us most. The daily record of our community is close to the top of things that matter.

In all our towns we Americans have our "Sox" and our "Tigers." We have that crashing halfback down the street. He's added up so many touchdowns the rest of America is beginning to talk about him. We have our clubs and our Community Chests and that "old gang of mine" that meets at the corner. We have that amazing new preacher with his cutting edge of eloquence. We have our schools. And we have your boy who has just gone to the army.

Oh, we have so many lovely, splendid things that the American home-town newspaper has woven into the durable fabric of civic pride. Clothed in that fabric as in armor, your newspaper goes forth to battle for clean government in the city hall, for abler judges in the courthouse—always to fight for the good.

Newspapers raise uncounted millions of dollars each year for those who need it most. They may be caring for disaster victims or substituting for Santa Claus at tens of thousands of homes come Christmas; or they may be buying milk for the baby, a wheel chair for an amputee, records for a veterans' hospital. The list is endless.

Newspapers organize safety campaigns, teach driving, finance traffic studies, sponsor health forums, give swimming lessons, pay for summer camps, promote soil and forest conservation, start knot-hole gangs for pint-size boys, and horseshoe tournaments for their grandfathers.

Minnie Tuttle was married yesterday. The hometown paper cheerfully set aside three-quarters of a column to tell the folks. Minnie Tuttle topped the glamorous of Hollywood in the wealth of her publicity. It was her day. It's everyman's day and everywoman's day in the home-town paper.

The days of our years—they are all here. Life without its daily local record would be too dull for living.

All of this is to say: There is no form of communication in America in which the medium and the people are so closely—so affectionately—interrelated. Your local newspaper tells your story. It is the faithful, dependable, purchasing guide for you and your community. In its lines are the heartbeats of the home folks.

What Is Pollution?

We say that water is polluted when it contains substances that make it unclean or unfit for our use. There are two main forms of pollution in our waterways.

The first is silt—the soil that makes our rivers brown and muddy and fills up the reservoirs behind our dams. The silt would be a priceless asset if it were allowed to stay on the land. Most of it is the rich layer of topsoil which grows the best crops and woodlands. But we have upset Nature's balance by chopping down too many forests and clearing too many fields. The plants no longer hold the soil in its place. Now, when a hard rain falls, the water carries the soil with into the nearest stream. Both the land and the water are harmed.

The second form of pollution consists of our unwanted wastes. These wastes are of two general types: sanitary sewage, and industrial wastes.

Sanitary sewage includes everything that goes down the drains of a city and into its sewer system—the used water from toilets, bathtubs and sinks, washings from restaurants and laundries, hospitals and hotels, garages, etc.

Industrial wastes are the acids, chemicals, oils, greases, and animal and vegetable matter discharged by our factories.

Silt is chiefly a problem for farmers, foresters and soil conservationists. It is basically a land problem, and it will be solved in rural areas.

But the problem of sewage and wastes is a water problem. It must be solved by the communities and factories which cause it.

ALPINE

Mrs. E. Mrosek
Orland 41-J-1

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Pelloquin, Nancy, Carol and Linda, Mr. and Mrs. William Felsch and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Felsch, Sandra and Patsy were Saturday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Simrell.

The Roy Walkers had a busy weekend entertaining and being entertained. Saturday they were dinner guests of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Garrett Cummins. Sunday they entertained her parents at a Guinea dinner. In the afternoon they stopped to see the new home of friends, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Callahan in Chicago. That evening they were supper guests of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Walker, in Chicago.

Grades 7 and 8 of Maue School had an interesting Science demonstration Tuesday. Reed Williams, an eighth grade student, demonstrated the development of picture prints from negatives. The demonstration was repeated three times so that all might see the process in the "dark room" which was too small to accommodate the entire group at once. Since photography is one of Reed's hobbies, he brought his equipment from home, and did an excellent piece of work explaining and showing the processes.

On Thursday the entire Maue

School viewed an informative film on finger painting, which was used to teach boys and girls the different techniques of using this art medium. Original designs were created before their eyes and it is hoped that there will be a carry over of the methods used when this activity is carried on in their classrooms.

Terry Donovan came to school all smiles Monday because he has had the cast removed from his arm which he broke about six weeks ago.

Little three year old Kathy Mickenburg enjoyed a brief visit at the Maue school last Wednesday. She has been a guest of her cousins Terry and Billie Joy Donovan.

David Allen Klepser was cut on his head when he was hit while playing beneath his swing Friday.
